HUMORDUS.

Max Adeler at Magruder's.

We shall never forget that evening we spent at Magruder's years ago. We admired Miss Magruder, and went around to see her. It was summer time and moonlight, and she sat upon the piazza. The carpenter had been there that day gluing up the rustic chairs on the porch, so we took a seat on the step in front of Miss Magruder, where we could gaze into her eves and drink in her smiles. It seems possible that the carpenter must have upset his glue-pot on the spot where we sat, for after enjoying Miss Magruder's remarks for a couple of hours, and drinking several of her smiles, we tried to rise for the purpose of going home, but found that we were immovably fixed to the spot. Then Miss Magruder said, "Don't be in a hurry," and we told her we believed we wouldn't. The conversation had a sadder tone after that, and we sat there thinking whether it would be better to ask Miss Magruder to withdraw while we disrobed and went home in Highland costume, or whether we should urge her to warm up the poker so that we could thaw ourself out : or whether we should give one terrible wrench and then scramble down the yard backward. About midnight Miss Magruder yawned and said she believed she would go to bed. Then we suddenly asked her if she thought her father would have any objection to lending us his front steps for a few days, because we wanted to take them home for a pattern. We think Miss Magruder must have entertained doubts of our sanity, for she rushed in, called her father and screamed .-Magruder came down with a double-barreled gun. Then we explained the situation in a whisper, and he procured a saw and cut out the piece of the step to which we were attached. Then we went home wearing the patch, and before two o'clock crushed out our young love for Miss Magruder. We never called again, and she threw herself away on a dry-goods man. There is a melancholy satisfaction in recalling these memories of youth, and reflecting upon the influence of glue upon the emotions of the human heart.

A Racy Examination.

The following racy examination of candidates for admission to the bar is taken from the Western Journal. The examination commenced with :

"Do you smoke?" "I do, sir."

"Have you a spare cigar?" "Yes sir. (Extends a short six.)

"Now, sir, what is the first duty of a lawyer?" "To collect fees."

"Right. What is the second?" "To increase the number of clients." "When does the position towards clients change ?"

"When making out a bill of costs." "Explain."

"We then occupy the antagonistic position I become the plaintiff and he becomes the de-"A suit decided, how do you stand with the lawyer on the other side?" "Cheek, by jowl"

"Enough sir. You promise to become an nament to your profession, and I wish you success. Now, are you aware of the duty you owe me?" "Perfectly."

"Describe it."

"It is to invite you to drink " "But suppose I decline ?" Candidate scratches his head.

"There is no instance of the kind on record in the books. I cannot answer the question.' "You are right. And the confidence with which you make the assertions shows conclusively that you read the law attentively .-Let's take a drink and I will sign your certificate at once."

- Said an Irishman to a telegraph operator, "Do you ever charge anybody for the address of a message?" "No," replied the operator.

"And do ye charge for signing his name, sir?" said the customer. "No, sir." "Well, then, will ye please send this? I

Fitter, M. D., a regular graduate physician, with whom we are personally acquainted, who has for 39 years treated these diseases exclusively with astonishing results. Wa believe it physician, with whom we are personally acquainted, who has for 39 years treated these diseases exclusively with astonishing results. We believe it our christian duty, after deliberation, to conscientiously request sufferers to use it, especially persons in moderate circumstances who cannot afford to waste money and time on warthless mixtures. As clergymen we seriously feel the deep responsibility resting on us in publicly endorsing this medicine. But our knowledge and experience of its remarkable merit tully justifies our action. Rev. C. H. Ewing, Media, Penn'a, suffered sixteen years, became hopeless. Rev. Thomas Murphy. D. D. Frankford, Philad'a. Rev. J. B. Davis, Hightstown, New Jersey, Rev. J. S. Buchanan, Clarence, lowa. Rev. G.G. Smith, Pittefield, New York. Rev. Jošeph Beggs, Falls Church, Philadelphia. Other testimonials from Senestors, Governors, Judges, Congressmen, Physicians, &c., forwarded gratis with psmphlet explaining these diseases. One thousand dollars will be presented to any medicine for same diseases showing equal merit under test, or that can produce one fourth as many living cures. Any person sending by letter description of affliction will receive gratis a legally signed guarantee, naming the number of bottles to cure, agreeing to relund money upon aworn statement of its failure to cure. Afflicted invited to write to Dr. Fileler, Philad'a.— His valuable advice coats nothing.

JEFFERSON FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOPS ..

A FTER an experience of 16 years in our business, we have at lest found out that we cannot carry on our business without money; and the difficulty in collecting money these times makes it a necessity for us to adopt the Cash system. We will, therefore, after January 1, 1873, do work for Cash only or Country Produce down on delivery of the work. We will endeavor to put down our prices as low ascan be done in the country, and the work-manship superior to any, and will strive to accommodate all who will favor us with their patronage.

Our New Ploughs, of which we are making a large lot of different sizes, will be sold on time to good, responsible men, by giving their notes payable at such time as specified in the contract. Remember, however, we guarantee satisfaction in every case or no sale. Our old accounts are now ready for settlement and must be closed up without delay.
